

SARAH

“What do you want to be when you grow up?” Sarah answered that question with “missionary” from the time she was nine years old. She knew that God was calling her to live overseas to be the hands and feet of Christ in places where Jesus isn’t well known.

Sarah grew to enjoy teaching and majored in Teaching English as a Second Language (TESOL) at Moody Bible Institute. Through a mission trip to Bangladesh, Sarah’s heart for the world’s desperately poor people grew and became a passion. Through her studies and a trip to Thailand, she began to see the tremendous potential the English teacher has to befriend students and earn the right to speak into their lives.

Sarah is in South Asia. She will be taking some time to learn the language and culture of her new country, while investigating the best way to open up a ministry using TESOL.
